Explosive Socia Water Bettles

The yearly increasing consumption of temperance drinks, particularly of acrated waters, is, on the whole, a matter for con-It is also a fact which renders the more necessary some precaution lest the greater demand should itself entail certain public dista. stages, which might, with some forethought, be avoided. With regard to cost, for instance, recent experience has shown that there is in many quarters a tendency to unjustifiable extortion in the retail sale of these very simple drinks. A warning of a different kind has lately been communicated through the daily press with reference to the imperfect filling of soda water bottles. A fault of this description is little, if at all, less blameworthy than that to which we have already referred. It is necessary for the safe use of acrated waters that the water itself should be in a due proportion to the gas which it is intended to absorb. If it is not, the excess of gas may cause, and repeatedly has caused, an explosion,

Gen. Jackson's Death Bed. Gen. Jackson's death bed at the Her mitage, one bright Sabbath morning in June, 1845, is described as a scene never to be forgotten. He bade them all adieu in the tenderest terms, and enjoined them, old and young, white and black, to meet him in heaven. All were in tears, and when he had breathed his last the out burst of grief was irrepressible. The congregation at the little Presbyterian church on the plantation, which the general had built to gratify his deceased wife, the morning service over, came flocking to the mansion as his eyes were closing, and added their bewailment to the general

The Shipment of Gold.

Gold is shipped across the ocean in specie kegs, made of extra hard wood with an extra iron hoop, each keg containing $5,000. In the interest of security each $5,000. In the interest of security each keg is trented to what is technically known among the shippers as the "red taping process." At each end of the keg, in the projecting rim of the staves above the head, are bored four holes at equidistant into cals. A piece of red tape is run through these heles, crossing on the head of the keg, and the ends finally meet in the center. At the point of meeting the tape is sealed to the keg's head by wax bearing the name of the hend by wax bearing the name of the shipper. An Important Find.

Two skeletons dug up several months ago in a cave near the Orneau, in Belgium, appear to belong to the oldest race of which any distinct record exists. These prehistoric individuals were contemporary with the mammoth, and inhabited the country before the great ice age. They were short and thick set, with broad shoulders, supporting a long and narrow head, with an extremely low forchead. head, with an extremely low forchead.-Arkansaw Traveler.
